

CeC PoP Experiment

September 1, 2020

Current Status

- Last Thursday we tried to measure the PCA gain using monochromator.
- We found that there is strong instability in the beam (working on this issue) and there is significant stray light on the Goly cell affecting measurements accuracy using spectrometer (we have changed system configuration today)

